

Reindeer Herders Festival

Trip to Yamal

Have you ever tried lassoing a reindeer or competing in jumping over a sled? You can do this together with the indigenous people of Yamal during the main holiday of the Far North — Reindeer Herder's Day. It takes place once a year only on the days of the spring equinox. Join our trip!

Experiences you'll have

Ethnotour to Yamal

When the long polar night in the tundra ended, some Northern peoples celebrated "Day of the Sun", others — "Day of the Deer". Today, all residents of Yamal gather together at "Reindeer Herder's Day" — a holiday that combines the age-old traditions and rituals of various indigenous peoples of the Far North. Their life is based on the philosophy of the movement. Therefore, it is not surprising, that the holiday itself lasts for almost 2 months being held in different towns and villages of Yamal for 1-2 days in each.

You will take part in Reindeer Herder's Day in Aksarka village and for the rest of the journey you will stay at the reindeer herders' camp, living in a traditional rawhide tent and watching the everyday life of the nomadic inhabitants of the tundra.

Traditionally, the festival program includes Yamal folk groups performances and national sports competitions: reindeer sledding race, wrestling, jumps over sleds and lasso throwing. During the day you can visit a festive fair where you can buy different handicrafts and taste traditional Northern cuisine, including venison and fish delicacies.

We accept bookings for groups of 6 or more

During this tour, you will become not only a spectator, but also a participant of the festival:

- take a ride on a reindeer sled
- compete in catching a reindeer using a lasso
- take photos in national costumes
- participate in reindeer herders' folk workshops (national clothes sewing, preparing leather from reindeer skins, etc)

If you are interested in watching the Northern lights in Yamal, see also a 7-day winter tour with an excursion to the Khanty national settlement and accommodation both at a hunting base in the tundra and in a reindeer herders' camp.
